Kindermusik: Sing & Play

Get ready to sing, play and move with your little one in this high-energy music class designed to be just right for very young children. This new Kindermusik curriculum focuses on your child's beginning movement, helping to build muscles your young toddler needs to walk, run and climb; and on vocal development, helping to nurture your child's speaking and singing voice. With a mix of both parent-child joint activities and child-focused activities, you'll be able to join right in on all the singing and dancing while also getting the chance to observe how your young toddler learns on their own. Embark on Kindermusik's fun new exploration of singing, swaying, laughing and playing through Sing & Play, a just-right mix of early childhood vocal play and language development, together time, and music and movement activities! For children birth-2 years old.
Parental or guardian attendance and participation is required.

What Does Gender Have to Do With It? Effective Communication in the Workplace
What does gender have to do with it? Actually, it can have a great deal to do with misunderstandings and communication breakdown in an organization. This session will illuminate important gender considerations when communicating with other gender colleagues. Research reveals that although we all share similarities in our communication pattern, we also have distinct differences in how we approach and react in interpersonal communication encounters. These differences begin very early in our lives and continue to influence our interpersonal interactions throughout our lives. Come and learn your weaknesses and strengths in communicating with individuals from the other gender as well as strategies to improve your communication to enhance your personal effectiveness on the job.
